UPDATE

Welcome to the
Roberta A. Smith
University Library

EXTRAORDINARY
NEW GIFT ANNOUNCED
FROM TRUSTEE
HENRY D. BULLOCK '77

Muskingum Dedicates the Roberta A. Smith University Library

On October 23, 2015, Muskingum celebrated the transformation of an early 1960s-era building into the innovative Roberta A. Smith University Library. State-of-the-art technology joins with academic and social gathering spaces throughout the building to form a true learning commons.

Cornerstone Donors and family representatives cut the ribbon to open the Roberta A. Smith University Library. Left to Right: Carol Stanley, niece of Professor Herbert F. Thomson; Howard Lowery, representing Jean Lowery '57 and Roy Hutchison; Amelia Armitage, granddaughter of Philip '40 and Betsey Caldwell; Desiree Caldwell Armitage, daughter of Philip '40 and Betsey Caldwell; Therese Gardner, John W. Gardner '68,

A Library for the FUTURE

The Roberta A. Smith University Library embraces the architectural model of a learning commons, integrating information technology and spaces for collaboration, content creation, and social interaction with library resources for reading, study, and research.

Comfortable, modular furnishings allow library users to arrange flexible spaces to suit their needs, food and drink are welcome throughout the building, and personal digital devices are supported with wireless network access and charging stations.

“The Roberta A. Smith University Library is a place where lives will be transformed — it will leave an indelible mark on the minds and hearts of all who study in our community. We are forever grateful to the Muskingum alumni and friends who have given this remarkable gift to our students and our faculty.”

— Anne C. Steele, President

Within this spacious and light-filled structure, our students’ academic, social, and professional development will be enhanced through:

- Information Stations
- Collaboration Stations
- Study Rooms
- Lounge Areas
- Classrooms and Seminar Rooms
- General Library Collection
- Reference and Research Collection
- Specialized Library Collections
- Librarian Hubs, Library Operations Areas, and Librarian Offices
- Educator Preparation program faculty offices, faculty resource rooms, clinical placement office, and assessment and licensure center

COLLABORATION STATIONS

Collaboration Stations allow small groups of students to gather around a spacious work table and large computer monitor. The monitor features multiple device inputs so that students can connect their devices and work together electronically.

Thank You, Roberta A. Smith

*Roberta Arndt
Poland Smith*

*Margaret Arndt Poland, Chester Harrison
Poland
Class of 1909*

Roberta A. Smith's generous gift to Muskingum University honors her parents, Margaret Fleming Arndt Poland, a member of the Class of 1909, and Chester Harrison Poland.

When Margaret Fleming Arndt enrolled at Muskingum more than a century ago, she chose as her major "elocution" — a highly-prized pursuit for young ladies of her time. She noted in her yearbook profile that giving speeches was her favorite pastime.

Margaret's love of reading, learning, and communicating her ideas was brought to fruition during her time on campus. She and Chester shared this legacy with their family.

Today, that same historic Muskingum tradition of excellence endures within the Roberta A. Smith University Library. The state-of-the-art facilities, resources, and technologies will provide Muskingum students of today and tomorrow with the skills to meet the opportunities and challenges presented by our ever-changing global economy and society.

ASHLEY ANNE ANDERSON
INFORMATION STATION

INFORMATION STATIONS

Information Stations provide our students with direct online access to the resources of the Roberta A. Smith Library system:

50 million books

12,000 electronic journals

150 electronic research databases

A media center containing 85,000 films, videos, recordings, images, maps, and historical documents

A research center offering 50,000 theses and dissertations

100,000 e-books

"The Roberta A. Smith University Library fully embraces the library's role as a central place for our students' academic, personal, and social development, as they prepare themselves for success in the twenty-first century work environment. It is exceptionally fitting that it will also serve as the home of our Educator Preparation program, where our teachers of the future will learn to share their knowledge with the coming generations."

D. Thompson and Darlene J. McCalmont Colloquium Center

Library visitors are welcomed to the Philip and Betsey Caldwell Library Commons through the Bonkovsky and Bonkovsky Entryway to Higher Learning and Service.

The two-story, glass-walled D. Thompson and Darlene J. McCalmont Colloquium Center features a projection wall, the Dan and Anita Plumly Fireplace, and comfortable seating and café tables to encourage student gatherings. When hosting speakers and video presentations, its furnishings stow away to accommodate theatre-style seating for up to 100 attendees.

The Bob and Jane Conley Lounge, the gateway to the Colloquium Center from the library's central atrium, honors U.S. Marine Brigadier General Robert Conley '41, Jane Reed Conley '43, and U.S. Marine Captain Robert Frank Conley '65, who sacrificed his life for our country in the Vietnam conflict.

Marshall and Eileen Phelps Reading Terrace, Boardroom and Classroom

The Marshall and Eileen Phelps Reading Terrace spans the front of the library to the right of the main entrance doors, and includes the building's cornerstone. The cornerstone scripture verse is the same inscription chosen when the prior library — which formed the core of the new structure — was constructed in 1959.

The Marshall and Eileen Phelps Boardroom and the Marshall and Eileen Phelps Classroom are located on the upper and entry levels respectively. They offer inspiring views of the Montgomery Fountain Plaza and Montgomery Hall. The Phelps Boardroom will be available to members of the campus community for seminars, presentations, and conferences, as well as serving as the meeting place for the Muskingum University Board of Trustees.

University Art Collection

The University Art Collection has been established through several important gifts.

Two works by the American artist and illustrator LeRoy Neiman (1921-2012) were given through the generosity of the LeRoy Neiman Foundation. Internationally known for his scenes of sports and entertainment, Neiman's vibrant colors and distinctive style chronicled half a century of American pastimes and cultural and sports heroes.

American glass artist Paul J. Stankard's exquisitely detailed botanical works are in the permanent collections of more than 70 prominent international museums, and he created the official United States gift used when formal diplomatic relations were established with the People's Republic of China. Mr. Stankard holds a Muskingum Doctor of Fine Arts degree and has given three works from his personal collection to the University in tribute to the presidency of Anne C. Steele.

HENRY BULLOCK ESTABLISHES $10 MILLION PLANNED GIFT

Trustee Henry D. Bullock '77 announces his planned gift that will eventually create Henry D. Bullock Hall.

Muskingum Trustee Henry D. Bullock '77 has committed a $10 million planned bequest to the University for the future construction of Henry D. Bullock Hall.

Henry Bullock earned his Bachelor of Arts degree cum laude in Philosophy and Economics and was deeply influenced by Professors Joseph B. Elkins and Herbert F. Thomson. He earned his Master of Business Administration degree at the Kellogg Graduate School of Management of Northwestern University and joined Wells Fargo Bank's Real Estate Industries Group where he helped establish the company's first construction finance business in Silicon Valley. His career has included posts directing the Northern California commercial mortgage banking operations of Security Pacific Corporation and as a Managing Partner at the Shidler Group where he was involved in all facets of taking two companies public. One of the companies, First Industrial, still trades on the NYSE (FR) and is the fourth largest publicly held industrial REIT (Real Estate Investment Trust).

He is Chairman of the Board of Menlo Equities, which he founded in 1994. Today, the company has $3 billion in net assets and over seven million square feet of technology-focused commercial real estate throughout California, Oregon, Washington, Arizona, and Texas. Mr. Bullock has served as a Muskingum trustee since 2004 and was previously a member of the Muskingum Alumni Council.

“We are profoundly grateful for Henry Bullock’s magnificent gift — while we can only imagine what Henry D. Bullock Hall may look like and what specific purpose it will serve, we know that it will have an immeasurable impact upon our students, our faculty, our community and our region, and ultimately our nation and our world.”

— ANNE C. STEELE, PRESIDENT

Professor Herbert F. Thomson

Henry Bullock fondly recalls Professor Herbert F. Thomson and Professor Joseph B. Elkins as inspirational mentors whose influence shaped his life and career in profound ways.

Professor Joseph B. Elkins

Henry Bullock in 1977

“Henry Bullock is an exceptional leader in service and stewardship for Muskingum — his generosity and commitment exemplifies the power of the unbreakable bonds forged between our faculty and our alumni.”

The Roberta A. Smith University Library is SOLAR POWERED!

Muskingum's commitment to creating a "library for the future" extends to the building's use of clean, renewable solar energy.

The rooftop system of 144 solar panels has a 36,000-watt capacity and will generate 43,000 kilowatt hours per year, supplying the library's anticipated electricity needs for the next 25 years.

The solar energy system was made possible through the generosity of D. Thompson '76 and Darlene McCalmont.
